[From a Correspondent]

Tungkillo, December 6

The annual examination of the Tungkillo District School took place on Tuesday, December 5. The Rev. Messrs. Pashley, Pollitt and Reddick acted as Examiners, and Mr. E. Rowe occupied the chair in the absence of Mr. P. O'Dea, the Chairman of the Council. The usual prizes were awarded, and satisfaction was expressed at the general progress of the pupils. After the scholars had partaken of tea, cake, and other good things supplied by their teacher, a tea meeting was held, which was very numerously attended. Later in the evening an entertainment of a musical and literary kind took place. The schoolroom was crammed, and we were pleased to see many visitors from Mount Pleasant and other places. The chair was filled by Mr. John Godlee, whilst Mr. J. W. Daniel, of Mount Pleasant, most ably presided at the piano, assisted by Master George and Miss Emily Daniel, who sung several duets in a very pleasing style; also by the Misses E. and F. Lowe and Messrs. W. Orgh and Arthur Bennett. Readings were given by the Rev. Mr. Pashley, Mr. James Maitland, and the Chairman. The usual votes of thanks to the examiners, visitors, ladies, &c., were duly passed and responded to, bringing to a close a very pleasant evening. The proceeds of the sale of tickets for the tea meeting and of a collection made at end of the entertainment (about £12) will be appropriated to the purchase of prizes for next year.

Tungkillo, December 10.

The weather has been mild and pleasant for some time past; the crops are therefore looking very well, although I have heard of signs of red rust beginning to show itself in one or two instances in this neighbourhood. We have been overrun with caterpillars, which come in droves of all the colours of the rainbow. They have in some instances entirely cleared gardens, even to flowers; in fact, every one in the district has suffered more or less from their ravages, particularly among peas and potatoes. I do not hear of their affecting the wheat crops. They are not confined to this district alone. The contracts on the Mannum-road to the Murray are progressing favourably. One of nearly a mile is completed. We are looking forward to the time when the advantages of the Mannum route will be more generally appreciated. I am informed that two or three practical miners are trying their luck at or near the Old Reedy Creek Mine. Contrary to all our expectations some time ago, we have abundance of feed. It is to be hoped we may not be visited this year with bush fires.

Mr. Thomas Tungkillo Prisk.

Mr. Thomas Tungkillo Prisk, who died on Friday, February 11, at Parkside, was the second son of the late Capt. Prisk of Callington. He was born 80 years ago at Tungkillo. For nearly 40 years he was inspector of railway bridges for the South Australian Government, and retired about eight years ago. He was a foundation member of the Parkside Methodist Church, one of its first class leaders and trustees, and he was for 50 years Methodist local preacher. In 1874 Mr. Prisk married the second daughter of Mr. James Lean, of Mount Barker. They lived a short time at Callington and Murray bridge, and for the last 40 years at Parkside. The deceased has left a widow, two sons (Mr. Cyril Prisk (Tasmania), and Mr. Ernest W. Prisk (Port Lincoln), and a daughter, Miss E. M. Prisk (Parkside).

Calthrop

This is a summer growing weed that is on the noxious weed list and is growing in the Tungkillo area. Also known as Bindii in other areas in Australia

Calthrop is a prolific flat sprawling summer growing cover that comes up after summer rains in the warmer weather. Calthrop is a green fern like looking ground cover that can reach easily up to 2 meters in diameter from the crown, with many branches and fine hairs on the leaves. This plant has small yellow flowers that range from 5mm - 8mm diameter, these flowers contain 5 petals. Along the stem of plant burrs will occur that can grow up to 1 cm with the sharp rigid spines growing to a length of approximately 6mm. These burrs can split into 5 sharp wedges segments with 2 spines on each segment. Reach on of these segments can contain up to 4 seed. Each plant may contain up to 1000 segments which may produce upwards to 20,000seeds per year.

The perfect habitat for the calthrop prefers warm temperatures with damp sandy soil, where there is little competition. Germination begins during the summer rains. This plant has an extensive root system that allows it to survive droughts and tolerant of some frost.

Calthrop plant with its spine and spikes has an impact with stock when eaten, which can harm the mouth and possibly the stomach and intestines. It is toxic to sheep and may present similar problems to our native fauna. Seeds are also carried in the sheep's wool, vehicle tyres, pushbikes, shoe etc. The spikes can easily penetrate human flesh causing a painful discomfort. Painful if getting between your pets' toes and become lodge in their fur also. The spikes will also easily puncture bike tyres.

Physical removal is the best way to control this noxious weed. Remove the whole plant including its roots, from the soil – therefore reducing the above ground plant mass – place in a plastic bag, tie up and dispose it in your waste bin. To reduce impact in the future of more seedlings reappearing either get a paint roller and back and forwards of the impacted area to collect any seeds and burrs, place this also in a plastic bag tie up and depose in your waste bin. Remember to also get the roots of the plant. Also, you can phone the council if you see it on the roadside in the town, describe where you seen calthrop for example the street number, if in front of a building or house give the number. Council should come and remove plant if small the usually spray. Seeds can sit in the soil for many years waiting for the correct conditions to germinate

Preserving Day at the Tungkillo Hall

Thursday the 16th of November seen our first preserving day at the Tungkillo Soldiers Memorial Hall. A well-attended day with a lovely friendly, like minded group of ladies that came from as far away as Wynn Vale to learn how to preserve apples and tomatoes.

Our lovely workshop host Ingrid went through why we preserve, the benefits of preserving your own foods, knowing that no preservatives or chemicals are added to your food, you can control the amount of sugar, she spoke about the correct way to produce your own lovely homemade creations for your family and friends to share, then it was down to all of us to peel, cut and chop all of our own food that we all took home.

Seeing, feeling and smelling is a great way to learn, plus being able to ask questions along the way. After all the preserves were put into the preserving unit to do their thing and seal for a long shelf life, we all gathered around and had a lovely afternoon tea that was provide, with some of the products coming from our native community garden.

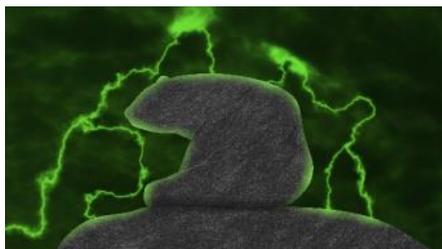

A big thank you to Ingrid and Jorden who helped us on the day and all the ladies that attended to make this a great and enjoyable day. With the great feedback on the day, we hope to have another preserving day in the new year at the Tungkillo Soldiers Memorial Hall.

Tungkillo. December 19.

The annual examination of the children attending the Tungkillo District School, conducted by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Ellis, took place on Thursday, December 13. The Rev. Messrs. Clay-field, Pithouse, and Roddick, with Messrs. J. Bennet, J.P., G. Melrose, J.P., and Rowe (on behalf of the District Council) acted as examiners. The children to the number of 70 were examined in grammar, geography, English history, reading, writing, and arithmetic, the numerous questions being answered in a manner that reflected great credit to both pupils and teachers, the writing and bookkeeping being much admired. After the examination, the children were regaled with a bountiful supply of tea and cake given by their teachers, after which there was a public tea meeting patronised by a great number of persons. In the evening the Rev. J. Roddick delivered an excellent and instructive lecture on the 'Historical and Literary Position of Shakspeare,' which was received with marked attention. It was interspersed with music by the Daniel family, assisted by Miss Batten and Mr. A. Bennet, which agreeably diversified the evening's enter-tainment. The concerted pieces went with a preci-sion and style that showed good rehearsal and study. The chorus from Sibelia, 'Come, Maidens away,' and a remarkably pretty glee, 'Venice,' were very successful. Miss Emily and Mr. Daniel sang Glover's very feeling duo, 'When I am faraway.' This young lady is acquiring taste and style, and bids fair soon to be an accomplished vocalist. The only solo in the programme was allotted to Miss Batten, who sang 'There's a path by the River' very archly and with good expression. In reply to an encore she gave 'Gin a body meet a body,' which vastly pleased the 'gude folk' assembled. She also sang with Mr. Daniel, accompanied on the piano by her pupil, Master George Daniel, Emanuel's fine duet, the 'Syren and Friar,' which being redemasded was responded to by the 'Soldier's return,' a splendid duet. The closing piece, 'Vodasia va di qua,' was a grand affair. Votes of thanks to the lecturer, Mr. Daniel and family, Miss Batten, and Mr. A. Bennet and Chairman, &c., duly responded to, brought to a close an evening long to be re-membered by us. The proceeds of tea meeting and lecture amounted to £15 1s. 2d., which will be reserved to purchase prizes for the children next year.

MEDIA RELEASE

ONE NUMBER TO MAKE CONTACTING MID MURRAY COUNCIL FASTER, EASIER

Got an inquiry about your rubbish collection? Need to pay a Council bill? Want to report a wandering dog? Whatever the reason for calling, getting in touch with the Mid Murray Council will soon be even easier.

The Council is about to implement a one number telephone system – meaning no matter why you need to get in touch, it will be as simple as calling (08) 8569 0100 and following the easy-to-use numbered menu to get connected with the right department.

Mid Murray Council Chief Executive Officer, Ben Scales, said the goal of the new system was to improve each customer's experience by streamlining the process of contacting Council.

"By giving the community one number to call for all inquiries, it will make contacting the right person simpler and more convenient. The new system will also allow our customer service officers to handle a greater number of inquiries, and customers will be able to direct their own calls to the department best suited to their inquiry through the simple numbered menu system.

"Importantly, there will still be an option for callers to talk directly to customer service staff if they're unsure where to direct their inquiry."

On calling, customers will be greeted with a list of options and can select a number that is related to the purpose of their call. Their call will then be directed to the relevant department.

If a customer is unsure which option to select, or if they prefer to speak with a Customer Service Officer, they can choose the customer service option, or hold the line and the call will be answered by Council's experienced customer service team as per the current process.

Council's one number telephone system will commence on Tuesday, October 3.

Farm Fire Units (FFU) play a vital part in assisting the South Australian Country Fire Service (CFS) respond to bushfires. FFUs can often be the first vehicles on a fire ground, particularly in remote areas, and are likely to know the local landscape which is of great assistance to our firefighters.

The CFS encourages people with a FFU fitted to a registered vehicle or trailer to register as a FFU with the CFS. To learn about the requirements to register as a FFU visit the 'Farm Fire Units' page on the CFS website at <https://www.cfs.sa.gov.au/.../business.../farm-fire-units/> and read the FFU Handbook.
